

DANMARKS
NATIONALBANK

Copenhagen
Macro

UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN

CopenhagenMacro Days

Call for papers

Copenhagen, 27-28 May 2019

Danmarks Nationalbank and the University of Copenhagen will host on 27-28 May the CopenhagenMacro Days, a series of events bringing together leading researchers, junior scholars and experts from the policy community in the field of macroeconomics, macro-labor, macro-finance and international economics. After the Global Financial Crisis and the Great Recession, leading and emerging scholars in macroeconomics and finance have taken up the challenge of pushing the discipline forward and to rethink many economic paradigms. The aim of CopenhagenMacro Days is to bring together established researchers and promising young stars to discuss the most interesting research in macroeconomics that has followed from this new impetus to the field.

On 28 May 2019 Danmarks Nationalbank and the University of Copenhagen organize a conference inviting submissions in all fields of macroeconomics, including but not limited to:

- Monetary and fiscal policy
- Financial frictions and macroeconomic outcomes
- Macroeconomics and heterogeneity
- Macroeconomic fluctuations

Please submit your paper by February 15th, 2019, to Research@nationalbanken.dk. Authors of accepted papers will be notified by March 1st, 2019. A discussant will be assigned to each presenter. Travel and accommodation expenses will be reimbursed for academic participants. People who submit may also be invited for participation in the role of discussants. Confirmed speakers include:

Lawrence J. Christiano, (Northwestern University)

Helene Rey, (London Business School)

Lasse Heje Pedersen, (Copenhagen Business School)

On 27 May 2019 the University of Copenhagen, with joint sponsorship from the Unicredit Foundation, organizes a conference inviting the leading young PhD economists in macroeconomics graduating in 2019 to present and discuss their work. A prize of 1000 EUR will be awarded during the conference to the most promising junior macroeconomist, selected by the senior speakers in CopenhagenMacro days. The speakers will be selected by invitation only in early 2019 – no submission is necessary.

Program Committee: Kurt Mitman (IIES, University of Stockholm, Scientific Committee), Morten O. Ravn (University College London, Scientific Committee), Helene Rey (London Business School, Scientific Committee), Federico Ravenna (Danmarks Nationalbank, Organizer), Emiliano Santoro (University of Copenhagen, Organizer)