Q&A

1. Hvor ofte opdaterer Nationalbanken guldbarrelisten?

Listen opdateres, når der sker ændringer.

1. How often is the gold bar list updated?

The list is updated in case of changes.

2. Hvilke data offentliggøres i guldbarrelisten?

Listen indeholder følgende information: den enkelte guldbarres lagernummer eller batchnummer, antal guldbarrer, bruttovægt, renhed og netto guldvægt. Nationalbanken modtager informationen fra depoterne.

2. Which data is published in the gold bar list?

The list contains the following information: the inventory number or the melt number, the number of bars, the gross weight, the fine weight and the fineness. The data is provided to Nationalbanken by the custodians.

3. Hvad betyder bruttovægt, renhed og netto guldvægt af en guldbarre?

Bruttovægten er resultatet af en vejning, som registreres ved ankomst til lagersted.

Bruttovægten af en guldbarre angives traditionelt i troy ounces (tr oz). En troy ounce er en vægtenhed, der anvendes for ædle metaller og svarer til 31,1034768 gram.

Renheden er den andel af guldbarren, der består af rent guld. Renheden er typisk præget ind i guldbarren. En renhed på 9995 svarer til, at 99,95 pct. af guldbarren består af rent guld.

Nettoguldvægten er resultatet af bruttovægt ganget med renheden. Netto guldvægten angives traditionelt i fine ounces (ozf).

3. What is the gross weight, the fineness and the fine weight of a gold bar?

The gross weight of a gold bar is the weight recorded when the gold bar is weighed. It is determined by the respective custodian upon receipt of a gold delivery.

The gross weight of gold is traditionally quoted in troy ounces (tr oz). A troy ounce is a unit of weight used for precious metals and is equal to 31.1034768 grammes.

Fineness denotes the actual gold content of a gold bar, this is typically stamped on the gold bar. A fineness of 9995 corresponds to 99.95 per cent fine gold.

Multiplying the gross weight of a gold bar by its fineness gives its fine weight, which is traditionally quoted in fine troy ounces (ozf).

4. Hvad er et guldbarre-/batchnummer, og hvad er et lagernummer?

Alle guldbarrer tildeles et nummer, så hver enkelt guldbarre eller batchnummer er unikt og kan anvendes til identifikation. Producenter anvender et ikke-standardiseret nummersystem, der kan bestå af både bogstaver og tal i varierende antal og kombination. Lagerstederne anvender lagernumre, der refererer enten til en enkelt guldbarre eller et batch af guldbarrer. Numrene er enten stemplet direkte i den enkelte guldbarre eller fæstnet til den med en label.

4. What is a bar/melt number and what is an inventory number?

All gold bars are assigned a number so that every bar or every melt is uniquely identifiable. Refiners do not use a standardised system for numbering bars and melts, i.e. the digit ranges used for melts and individual bars may be alphanumeric and/or numeric, and have a varying digit length as defined by the respective refiner of the gold bars. Inventory numbers are either stamped or affixed to the bar using a label.

5. Hvordan identificeres guldbarrer på Nationalbankens eksterne lagersteder?

Bank of England anvender et internt system for identifikation af de enkelte guldbarrer. Federal Reserve Bank of New York identificerer de deponerede guldbarrer ved hjælp af producentens batchnummer. Guldbarrelisten afspejler det enkelte lagersteds nummereringsmetode.

5. How are gold bars identified at Danmarks Nationalbank's various custodians?

Bank of England uses internally assigned inventory numbers. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York identifies the bars deposited in its vaults via the refiner's melt number. The gold bar list records the bars in accordance with the numbering system used at the respective custodian.
